1. I am doing a new thing and I am doing it through the surrendered who will be the surrendered, who will let me be the surrendered in them -- to surrender to all the new things that I am doing, and how I am doing them - requires surrender.

2. This is Theodore Cottingham, November 3, 2008 as I drive the van this morning on an errand.

3. I love you all and I give you me. I give you these words, I've given you these words to freely bless you, and "invoke" a blessing, not; but be it; to be it, The Blessing in the world, Earth and beyond, and farther reigns going to now, not letting them reign in you, but you shall reign in them, reigning peace -- and mercy, justice -- confusion not shall be there anymore -- OR here, that I am is. For both I am, is I am, not; but see as one, one is, for all both and the same coming into oneship that knows no boundary separation again -- for I declare my kingdom void of all sorrow, and sorrow "lives" many places that I go now to, and I eradicate it all for I establish The Blessing peace goodness -- goodwill to men and Angels knowing again they are -- me, the whole me, angelic host of heaven -- sings now in regard of no man for flesh, but all coming into me, see me as I really truly am and I am -- in love with you all.

4. 9:34 AM. Greet me this day and each other with love that knows no bounds. And "eagle wings" take thee up, not, but I do. Not to be dandled as a lion, but to be "tamed" not, but to be the tamer, not; but to be the great I am that I am's I am's all to be the one great I am is.

5. All down on our knees begging for mercy, not; but all know surrender and whose name is the one I am is, and my name is surrender before you, and surrender is me in me; and see what I have said given this day, these minutes short, so few remain for you.

6. I bear no one on my knee. I break many knees, not; but I break many wills, for the will of him I am my father is and I are one and I love each to break their will that cast them, out of their prison not, but took them into it, for they forsook my will, my way, and embondage'd themselves with it and thus doing. But I change all that for I love am and I come love and I bow before love and I establish love, everywhere I go am, my kingdom is, risen, established! Hallelujah! Amen.

7. This is Theodore Cottingham bringing you these words, showing you that even in minutes just so few, even as you run "errands" around "town" you can see my words, speak my words, hear my word -- being it; for that is what you really are. And these words purpose in your heart, my heart, that our heart comes forth now one, not abated by strength of blessing that aren't me.

8. Let no one words thee that thou now take and eat, give thee any direction but mine, for I love thee all to be in my kingdom, my kingdom come, coming and now is -- and all of you who surrendered are to be it, open it, and "show it" to the world, not; but to be it in love and therefore all who see will see -- for see all will, for you forsake none. You bow before all for I do and I am surrendered to you. Will you surrender to me, thusly -- the same -- so that I can be me in you and us one with all others who now see the error of their ways and how they separated and became notme's and suffered the clock consequences in flesh land?

9. I bow before you all this day and I love you all to be me, I have given you all I have and all I am -- surrender to be me and receive that which I am, what I have given you, and giving you all then to the nations and father boundarylessness and temptation non, not; but yielding to it not; but knowing you are I am and rising above the clouds now, I merciful-ize you not; but I let your mercy flow to the nations now and grace peace goodwill establishing all my love I do beyond the earth's bounds that have held you back so long.

10. I love you all. Good day.
